

Ada's Story

Opening:

One gloomy, grey and wet night Hunter lay in bed deep in thought. He was dreaming about a haunted castle with thousands of ghosts, he heard their ghoulis wails. In the tower a bathroom door creaked and a crowd of ghosts came tumbling, rolling and floating out to try and get him. Hunter woke up and whispered, "I wish I was old enough to be a ghost hunter". He then jumped in total shock because he heard his Mum's voice shouting "Hunter, you're meant to be asleep!". Hunter said, "Okay I'm trying to".

Build up

He was absolutely silent. He waited and waited until Mum was asleep. He slowly opened the window and climbed out. Most little girls and boys were frightened, but not Hunter. He fell onto the trampoline with a big 'oof!' "Ouch" he cried, luckily Mum didn't hear him. He tiptoed down the street until he came to a sudden stop then crept into his neighbours shed.

Suddenly, Hunter saw that the shadow was in there. Frantically the shadow picked up the parachute and soared up into the dead of night. "Wait" called Hunter! He then sprung then sprinted. Unfortunately, he was not looking where he was going and suddenly, he crashed into a taxi at the end of the pitch black road.

Hunter heaved the huge, giant taxi door open and asked the driver "have you seen a shadow in the sky?" "No" he replied. Meanwhile after their chattering Hunter saw the shadow again swoop past his head. "I spotted it heading towards London Tower". As quickly as he could, the taxi driver jumped back into the taxi and vroomed towards the tower. Finally, when they got there the wooden door creaked. Hunter stood there waiting for what was going to happen next.

Problem

Hunter silently tiptoed into the tower and then he said "am I in my dream, I thought I'd just heard some ghost wails". Then unexpectedly the shadow came swooping down from the sky right in front of him, to his surprise it was just a young girl. She said "you need help fighting those ghosts?". "Kaboom!" the door slammed in front of their faces, they heard wails and saw a ghost right in the corner of the room. The ghost was munching the potato crisps from Hunter's bag. They were stuck in the room with the ghost.

Resolution

The girl said "hey, I'm really thin and skinny, I can probably help you get down this drain hole". Hunter said "sure, but don't tell me if it smells". She replied cheekily "it smells bad alright, but do you want to get to the end of this puzzle or not?" The girl span down the whirling, stinky drain hole as Hunter was screaming loudly. He then whispered "do you really think it is a good idea to go down the drain hole". He heard her voice from far away shouting "yes, I'm safe". Hunter reluctantly jumped in after her.

Ending

At the end of the tunnel they noticed five security ghosts by the exit of the drain, so the girl said "I'll find a different way". Hunter whispered "no, I've got a special ghost hoover I had got for my fifth birthday, I never thought I'd get to try it out!" Hunter dug through his bag to see a silver, shiny ghost hoover. He turned it on cautiously and pointed it towards the security guard ghosts. With a deafening 'vrooooooooooooo' it swirled around with loads of wind to fight the ghosts. The girl roared in excitement, they were finally safe from the ghosts.
